Dear Namecheap Legal:

Further to our firm's emails to you in 2020 regarding S.D.N.Y. Case No. 7:20-cv-09346, Saladino v. Tufano, please find attached a court order issued today by the U.S. District Court, requiring the domain name <paulsaladino.com> to be transferred to my client. Please let me know what information you need from me to effectuate the transfer.

Best regards,
David Lin

Hello,

Thank you for contacting the Namecheap Legal and Abuse department. We confirm the receipt of your report, it will be reviewed and processed following our policies.

Please be aware that Namecheap investigates a large volume of complaints, therefore, we will respond to you only if additional information on the matter is required. However, rest assured that your complaint will be properly evaluated and action will be taken if necessary.

You are welcome to check yourself if the domain is active by searching the domain status via Namecheap Lookup (<https://www.namecheap.com/domains/whois/>). If the domain status is in clientHold/serverHold, it means the domain has been suspended and is not available on the internet.

If you wish to contact the domain holder, hosting, or email provider for the domain name in question, you may consider using the RrSG ACID Tool (<https://acidtool.com/>) to identify their contact details.

IMPORTANT: In order to support the process of investigation, please review the instructions below depending on the type of abuse you are reporting. To help us fully investigate your claim, please ensure your submission includes all the requirements we describe. If you have submitted a complaint and realize that information is missing, please simply reply to this message, including the additional information, and make sure that the engagement ID is kept in the subject so that we can track your replies:

Hello,

Thank you for your cooperation in this matter.

We confirm that our Senior Legal team has reviewed the court order and supporting documents, and we are now prepared to proceed with the transfer of the domain paulsaladino.com as directed.

To initiate the process, kindly:

1. Create a Namecheap account (if you do not already have one) via this link: <https://www.namecheap.com/myaccount/signup/>
2. Provide the following details for verification:
 - Namecheap account username
 - Email address linked to the account

Once verified, we will push the domain directly to your Namecheap account. If you wish to transfer the domain to another registrar afterward, you may follow the steps outlined in our guide: <https://www.namecheap.com/support/knowledgebase/article.aspx/258/84/what-should-i-do-to-transfer-a-domain-from-namecheap/>

Please reply with the requested information, and we will expedite the transfer. Feel free to reach out with any questions.
